BY YESTERDAY'S MAIL.

Summary of Congressional News. FRIDAY, July 27 .- This was the last night of the session, but everybody was so fagged from the long session and hot weather, that but little of unusual interest was manifested.

The Committee on the Judiciary made their report on the assassination conspirators; but as we gave it in full in our telegraphic column some days ago, we will not repeat it.

The Equalization of Bounties has no special interest for our readers, except so far as it adds considerably to the expenses of the Government; but in that we have no say, and so we shall say noth-

In the Senate, a portion of the day was devoted to the case of Senator Patterson. The Judiciary Committee found that he had once taken an oath to support the Confederate and State Government of Tennesse, but there were so many palliating circumstances connected therewith, chief among which was the fact that when elected to the Judgeship in question he ran as a Union candidate against a determined rebel, that the majority of that Committee reported in favor of his admission by suspending in his case a portion of the Test Oath. Although a minority report was submitted and urged with much vigor by Messrs. TRUMBULL and Howard, the joint resolution passed with only five votes in the negative, and was sent to the House.

At 10 P. M. the resolution came up in the House. Mr. MAYNARD took the floor in an argument in favor of admitting Mr. Patterson, and in a review of the palliating circumstances of his case, which are certainly very great. SHELLABARGER assailed it with all his power, and was succeeded by Mr. TAYLOR, of East Tennessee, who represents Mr. PATTERSON'S district, and who testified to all the circumstances of his devotion to the Union. Mr. Coneling, of New York, next had the floor, and yielded it to Mr. Stokes, of Tennessee, who, while indorsing the Unionism of the applicant, made a strong appeal against any modification or repeal of the test oath. ELDRIDGE finally tripped him up with that letter of hie, written in 1861, in which he said he was opposed to coercion. STOKES replied vigorously to this. Judge Patterson was among the listeners on the floor.

Our readers will remmember that the telegraph has already announced that Judge P. took the oath and his seat.

We pass by other matters, all anticipated by telegraph, and present the following items of in-

SALES OF RAILROADS.

It appears from a statement made by the War Department, relative to the sale of railroads and railroad stocks in Southern States by the Quartermaster-General, that the amount of such sales for cash was $3,403,402 22, and for oredit $7,418,962 30. Gen. McCulism says, the greater portion of this property had been on hand and in use a long time, and though the prices obtained were below the cost, with some exception they are believed to be very favorable to the Government. The sales on credit were better than those for cash. In order to secure the payment for sales on credit, companies purchasing were required to give bonds in double the amount of property transferred to them. These bonds are all on file in the War Department. They give the Government a lien upon the property, and require prompt payments of all instalments of purchase money.

A great number of companies have failed to comply strictly with the terms of their bonds, but owing to the proestrate condition of the roads, and the expense of repairing them, it is believed they are actually unable to meet their obligations. It is thought that an attempt to enforce immediate payment would arrest the operation of the roads and defeat the very purpose had in view in making oredit sales. The roads all manifest a willingness to meet their engagements, and a large proportion of the payments already made have been cash. All moneys accruing to their credit for transportation of troops, supplies and the mails are stopped against them and applied in liquidation of their indebtedness, and it is confidently believed that in this manner the whole amount will ultimately be secured.

Another curious item for these times is the payment of conditions to the loyal masters of enlisted slaves. The amendment for the payment of bounties to the loyal masters of enlisted slaves was concurred in.

From the dispatches to the New York Times w copy the following:

The capture of the rebel archives has put the Greenment in possession of a mass of letters, papers and documents of various kinds, only a portion of which have as yet been examined.

The examination, thus far, has thrown light upon the general policy of the rebel authorities, which, in many particulars, involved a total discregard of international law, and of the usages of civilgard of international law, and of the usages of civil-ized war. The Secretary of War, through Francis Lieber, LL. D., Chief of the Archive Office, has furnished to the Committee copies of various let-ters and papers found in the War Office at Rich-mond, bearing upon four points of the policy of the rebel Government.

First—With regard to the negroes bearing arms.

Second—The condition of rebel prisons and the Second—The condition of rebel prisons and the treatment of prisoners.

Third—Orders issued and letters written by the rebel Secretary of War in relation to the Union prisoners; and Fourth—Yews and suggestions of Jeff. Dayls in regard to Union prisoners.

Copies of these papers have been furnished to the Committee, and a synopsis thereof is herewith submitted as a part of this report. While the evidence thus furnished does not bear directly upon the question submitted to the Committee, it has been thought advisable to lay it before Congress and the country as showing the brutal and it has been thought advisable to lay it before Congress and the country as showing the brutal and inhuman policy of the men who instigated and guided the rebellion, and as being in that particular intimately connected with the attempts that were made to burn the cities of the North, to destroy its commerce on the rivers, lakes and the ocean, without regard to the loss of life; and finally, with the assassination of the President of the United States.

The Times then gives seven or eight closely printed columns of "documents" from Dr. Francis LIEBER's "archives."

RESULTS OF ADVERTISING.—Among the three or four London houses which must soon be cleared away in the neighborhood of Temple Bar—the site being required for the new Temple of Justice—is that in which "Holloway," of pill and ointment celebrity, carries on his operations. A return has just been furnished to the city authorities as the foundation of a claim for compensation, from which it appears that the profits of the business for the last three years amounted to between thirty thousand and forty thousand pounds sterling. The sum paid for advertising is over twenty thousand pounds sterling per annum, and the rtaff of the establishment includes two hundred women, whose sole duty it is to look after the advertisements, and see that they are inserted as ordered.

RAILWAY PALACES.—A notable excursion from Chicago to Aurora, Ill., and returning, recently took place, the cars used being Pullman's railway palaces. Four hundred lauies and gentlemen participated. The dars are each sixty-three feet long, ten and a half feet wide, and nearly eleven feet nigh in the clear. Each is calculated to accommedate fifty-four passengers, containing thirty-two double bot ths. They cost upwards of twenty thousand dollars each. Exquisite carving adorns every part of the interior. The upholatory is of rich Brussels carpet, damask curtains, heavy French lace and glasses, and the exterior finished in the highest style of art by the glider, landscape painter and varnisher.
